

MEETS DEATH AT BROTHER'S HAND

William Spinks Shot Down When He Went to Home of Relative.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WARRENTON, Va., November 11.—News has been received here of the murder of William Spinks by his brother, Henry Spinks, at the home of the latter, last night, at Hopewell, about twenty miles north of this place.

Spinks alleges that his brother came to his home about midnight and attacked both him and his wife, and that the shooting was in self-defense. His wife bears evidence of having received a blow on her temple as does her husband. Following the assault, Henry Spinks picked up his shotgun, which was near and emptied the head of it at his brother, the shot taking effect and taking away part of the head.

There were no witnesses to the crime except Spinks and his wife. His aged father and mother were sleeping upstairs, but knew nothing of the difficulty until awakened by the shot or the gun.

Gave Himself Up.

As soon as daylight came Spinks gave himself up to Magistrate Peyton, who immediately summoned a coroner's jury, whose verdict was that Henry Spinks came to his death by a gunshot wound inflicted by the hands of his brother, Magistrate Peyton conducted the preliminary hearing, and sent Spinks on to the grand jury, and he was placed in the custody of Special Constable W. D. VanHorn, and by the latter lodged in jail here to-day. It is rumored that jealousy prompted Spinks to kill his younger brother, who it is reported, was more or less attentive to Miss Spinks.

West Point Notes.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WEST POINT, Va., November 11.—A handsome automobile, said to belong to Mr. Gould, came down on the early train from Richmond yesterday morning, to be used in going over the route between West Point and Urbanna that has been marked out for the new railroad, just now of so much interest to people in this section.

Misses Daisy Wilson and Mary Whitsett, of Richmond, have been giving a luncheon at the hotel here to-day, and New Kent, and to-day passed on route to Urbanna, where they will give an entertainment.

Mr. Henry Galpin, who purchased the farm of the late Mr. Henry Carr near Cohoke, on the Pamunkey River, is again in this neighborhood, accompanied with six gentlemen in pursuit of other farms. Mr. Galpin is the examiner of banking and insurance in New Jersey.

Mr. William Wilmer, a resident of New York City, visited West Point a few days ago, ostensibly for pleasure. He came in his yacht with a party of friends, and the real object of his visit was to find a site in the York River for a fine club house with a convenient hunting ground.

Mr. Richard Horsely, of Gloucester county, near Almond's Wharf, had his hand crushed in a shredding machine a few days ago, necessitating the amputation of his hand and arm nearly to the elbow. He had a glove on, which caught and dragged his hand in.

News of Petersburg

Times-Dispatch Bureau,
109 North Commerce Street,
Petersburg, Va., November 11.

Mr. Virginia L. Weddell, a valued employee of the city, died very suddenly of apoplexy, shortly after 11 o'clock, at the office of the Board of Health, on the Courthouse Square. Apparently feeling unwell, he had left his office, and in doing so fell on the floor in front of the building, was taken into the office of the Register of Water Works, adjoining, where almost immediately, and before a physician could reach him, he died. Mr. Weddell was forty-eight years old, and unmarried. He had been for some years secretary of the Board of Health and the clerk of a number of important committees of the Council, in which capacity he rendered valuable service. He was an officer of Petersburg Aerie of Eagles, and widely known in the community, and universally esteemed for his many traits of character, kindness of heart and genial disposition. A joint meeting of the Council will be held to-morrow to pay tribute to his memory.

Mr. Beverly A. T aylor, a well-known builder and contractor of this city, died at an early hour this morning at his home, 1015 North Main street, of pneumonia. He had been in ill health for some time, and for several days past his life had been despaired of. Mr. Taylor was fifty-one years of age, and is survived by his wife and two brothers, Abner E. and George T. Taylor, of this city.

Coming Event of Interest.

At a meeting of citizens held last night in the parlors of the Chesterfield Hotel it was decided to have a motor boat race on the Appomattox River on Saturday, November 12. A committee, consisting of Captain Carter R. Bishop, LeRoy Roper, James Pettus, W. A. Worth and John Hanrahan, was appointed to make all arrangements for the race. The start will be made in the harbor, and the course will be as far down as Gattling's and return. Nine boats for the race have already been made, and others are expected. Many fine motor pleasure boats are owned in Petersburg, and the event will be one of much interest. Handsome prizes will be awarded.

Presentation of Silver Service.

A handsome silver service was presented this morning by the employees of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad to Captain John P. Day, for some years the courteous and efficient yardmaster of that company, in this city. Captain Day has resigned that position to accept a like position with the Tidewater Railroad in Southwest Virginia. The presentation address was delivered by Rev. F. W. Moore, and Captain Day's response showed deep appreciation of the regard shown by his fellow-employees. Captain Day is an exceedingly popular man and proved himself a faithful officer.

A Thief Shot At.

Last night about 11 o'clock, a thief broke into the residence of Mrs. Crowder, on Commerce Street, and stole some provisions. A little later the same thief, it is believed, attempted to rob the premises of a neighbor, Mr. Moore, but was discovered and shot at by that gentleman. The shot missed, however, and the thief decamped, making good his escape. It is not known whether he was a white man or a negro.

Young's Pool.

At the home of the bride's mother, on Liberty Street, at 10:30 o'clock this morning, Miss Ella Virginia Poole, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Poole, was married to Mr. Robert Lee Young, of the Rev. J. T. Bosman, pastor of Market Street Methodist Episcopal Church, performing the ceremony. The wedding was a quiet, pretty home event. Miss May Hargrave, of Prince George, attended the bride as maid of honor, and Mr. William L. Young, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Young left for the North on their wedding trip.

Alderman William Koenig expects to leave at an early date on a trip to his old home in Germany, which he has not visited in nineteen years.

The Wednesday Music Club resumed its meetings and gave its first musicale of the season at the home of Miss Bettie Jones, on Marshall Street. A fine program was rendered.

Mr. Roy Adamson has resigned the position of manager of the Riverside Hunt Club and master of fox-hounds on account of his health. He will return to Warrenton with his horses, and later will go to Colorado, where he was married.

Miss Lucille Lloyd, of Lynchburg, who has been visiting Miss Waite in this city, has returned home, accompanied by Miss Waite.

A license was issued to-day for the marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Moody to Mr. Thomas Waverly Weeks, both of Petersburg.

GREGORY SUFFERS UNDER GRILLING

Accused Dentist Is Subjected to Most Merciless Cross-Examination.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ROANOKE, Va., November 11.—In the Gregory case to-day, the prosecution closed, and the defense put Dr. Gregory on the stand at the afternoon session. The first witness at the morning session was Lee Keedick, of New York, the young man who assaulted Dr. Gregory.

After describing the fight in the office, Mr. Keedick said that when the police came in, Gregory told them to hush the matter up, as it was a private affair, which could be settled between them.

Mrs. Coulter testified in regard to the story told by Miss Irvine to her and the view to the office.

Looked Like Dead.

Miss Elsie Patterson testified that she went to the office of Dr. Gregory while Miss Irvine was there, and the door between the reception and operating-rooms was locked. When Dr. Gregory opened the door she saw a lady lying down on the dental chair, looking like she was dead.

Officer Hiner corroborated the story of Mr. Keedick, this Dr. Gregory wanted the matter hushed up. Mr. W. C. Burns also testified that he heard Dr. Gregory say it was a private matter. The defense announced that it had closed its case, with the exception of rebuttal evidence.

Gregory on Stand.

Dr. Gregory was then placed on the stand and denied all the statements made by the witnesses. He suffered severely under cross-examination by Mr. Smith. He was asked if Miss Irvine was unconscious, and he said she was. Smith drew the record of the Police Court, and showed where he had twice stated that she was not unconscious a moment.

"You gave Miss Irvine an anesthetic," said Mr. Smith, "to keep her from moving her arms about."

"Yes," was the reply.

"Did you not know that an anesthetic first effects the brain?"

"Not according to my idea."

Then Mr. Smith asked him if he could find a single textbook agreeing with his theory, and the accused said he could not.

For nearly two hours Dr. Gregory was put through the most merciless cross-examination by Mr. Smith.

MANY PROMINENT PERSONS PRESENT

Unveiling of Monument at Fredericksburg to Humphreys's Division Largely Attended.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
FREDERICKSBURG, Va., November 11.—The unveiling of the monument in the National Cemetery here to-day to General Andrew Atkinson Humphreys, Third Division, Fifth Army Corps, and Pennsylvania Troops, attracted a large number of people to this city, including about 1,500 Pennsylvanians, many of them being Federal veterans, who took part in the battles of the Civil War here in 1862, and members of General Humphreys's division, which was its heroic charge against Mary's Heights, but was repulsed by the Confederates with a heavy loss of men.

Notable Presence.

Prominent among the visitors were Captain George F. Baer, president of the Fredericksburg Battlefield Memorial Commission, Pennsylvania; Governor Edwin S. Stuart, of Pennsylvania, and staff, and Admiral Winfield Scott Schley. The parade formed at the courthouse, under the command of Major Clay W. Evans, of Pennsylvania, chief marshal, and Captain M. B. Rowe, of this city, assistant marshal, headed by the band of sixteen pieces, followed by Washington Guards, Captain T. M. Larkin, Maury Camp of Confederate Veterans, Major A. B. Bowering, R. S. Chew Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans, W. H. Hurkamp, members of the Battlefield Memorial Commission of Pennsylvania, in carriages, Governor Edwin S. Stuart, of Pennsylvania, and staff, in carriages; invited guests, veterans in regimental formation.

The line of march was through the principal streets to the National Boulevard, up the boulevard to the National Cemetery. The parade was over one mile long and over 1,500 men were in line. At the which shall for all time commemorate the heros and sacrifice of the Pennsylvania soldiers in the memorable battle of Fredericksburg. The Union veterans of Pennsylvania meet the veterans who bore the stars and bars not as enemies, but as friends, with equal interest and pride in a common country. When peace came after four years of bloody conflict, it left the fierce passions of fraternal war in a tidal wave throughout both sections of the country. The veterans of the North and South, had been shadowed by the angel of sorrow, and it was hard for either section to make the advance toward a reunited American brotherhood, but there were brave men in both sections who earnestly and eloquently pleaded the cause of peace and fellowship, and among the first was the great war Governor of Pennsylvania, Robert Stars and Bars, will not shudder at the monument we are here to unveil. There are like monuments on every important battlefield of the Civil War, many erected to the heroic soldiers of Lee, and many erected to the heroic soldiers of Grant as a tribute of the nation to the greatness of American commanders, and I hope at an early day to see Virginia and Pennsylvania unite in placing on Saminary Hill, at Gettysburg, an equestrian statue of Lee, with the right conceded to the South to embellish that memorable field with statues of her heroic leaders.

A few years ago I made an earnest appeal to the Pennsylvania Legislature to inaugurate such a movement, and it was decided at an early day to see Virginia, as then given, that it was not yet the time for so pronounced a declaration from our State that pays with sectional brotherhood had reached its consummation. We are here to-day unveiling a monument to Pennsylvania, with the right conceded to the Virginia battlefields, and there is welcomed by every hand by the veterans who won the victory, and by the citizens who sympathized with the Gray, and will ever stand as high-water marks of the heroism of our American soldiers.

Meet as Friends.

Veterans of the Blue and the Gray, we are here to-day to unveil a monument and thus enable the visitor to that historic ground to read by the statues and tablets on both sides, the complete history of the decisive conflict of the war.

Liberty and Union.

"The veterans of both sides have long been teaching the country that peace and brotherhood have been restored to it. There is not a grave of a veteran of the Gray in any cemetery in the North, where the graves of Union soldiers are made beautiful and fragrant on Decoration Day, that is not decorated with equal care, and the veterans of the Union thus pay equal respect and honor to the fallen on both sides of the conflict; and the veterans of the Gray never fail to decorate the graves of the fallen Union veterans when that tribute is paid to their fallen brethren."

"A Confederate soldier was a Cabinet officer under Grant; a Confederate soldier was a Cabinet officer under Hayes, and a Confederate soldier is a Cabinet officer under Roosevelt. Surely the time has come, after forty-two years of a reunited nation who all the terrible asperities should be only a shadowed memory, and when all the grand attributes of sympathy and affection, brotherhood should be visible in every section of our great republic. Here, standing among the graves of the brave, the dead of both the great armies that were engaged in deadly struggle, all will unite in the patriotic sentiment, that the great expansion of the Constitution when he replied to the early advocacy of secession by one of South Carolina's great statesmen, 'Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable.'"

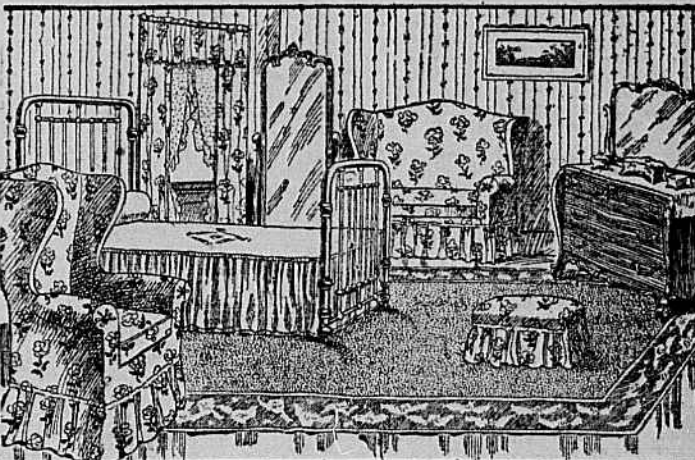

Many of the Pennsylvanians will remain here several days visiting the historic points and battlefields at and near Fredericksburg. President Baer came in a special train, in a private car, composed of an engine, private car "Reading," sleeping car "Atlantic," dining car "Pennsylvania," with a number of prominent people as his guests. Two special trains brought Governor Stuart and staff, and many of the Federal staff.

The Monument.

The monument is twenty feet high, the statue being nine feet, and pedestal and base eleven feet. On the front of the monument is the following inscription: "Erected by Pennsylvania to commemorate the charge of General Humphreys's Division of Fifth Army Corps on Mary's Heights, Fredericksburg, Va., December 13, 1862; 134th, 125th, 91st, 121st, 122d, 123d, 124th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry." It is a beautiful piece of work of Stony Creek, Conn., granite, hone finish.
